

BIG TIM'S TRACK OPENS MARCH 20

Jacksonville Site Selected for Course, Which Is Financed by Sullivan.

JACKSONVILLE, March 2.—"Big Tim" Sullivan will open his new race track here on March 20. It is a mile course with grandstand, betting reservation and clubhouse. Interested with Sullivan in the new venture in this city are F. J. Pons and Manning Smith, wealthy and influential citizens of Florida.

"Curley" Brown, who organized the New Orleans Jockey Club and built the City Park track in the Crescent City, has acted in a similar capacity in the construction of the track here. He has been "Big Tim's" personal representative in the matter of purchasing land, laying out the course, buying building material, etc.

The date proposed for the inaugural meeting is rather late in the season for racing here, but the contractors were unable to finish the track and buildings for early winter sport. The meeting will extend twenty days. Next year the racing will begin shortly after the holidays, during the height of the Florida season.

Brown announces that it is the purpose of the owners of the new racing plant to make this city the winter rendezvous for horsemen. With this purpose in view valuable stakes and rich overnight races will be offered next season, so as to attract the better class of race-horses.

Stabling accommodations for 200 horses will be ready for the opening, but before next winter quarters for twice that number of racers will be provided. The stalls are big, roomy affairs, with an open space to roof, which will allow the circulation of plenty of fresh air. Special attention has been paid to the construction of these stables with the idea that if any of the more notable turfmen should send representatives here to take part in the next meeting thoroughbreds would find stalls befitting their caliber.

Wealthy Men Behind Track.
It is the intention of the men behind this new racing venture to make Jacksonville the center of racing in the South. Besides the men named being financially interested in the track, it is known that the Engler Plant Transportation Company is also behind the project. At least 200,000 tourists visit this city during the winter season, and it is argued that this number would be largely increased if there was some fashionable outdoor amusement, such as racing, well conducted, provided as an attraction. At the present time there are no amusements of a similar character here or within many miles.

New Racing Circuit.
These racing plants serve to feed interest in the "sport of kings" at Havana. With the all-rail route to Key West nearly finished, it is only a question of a few months when the Cuban capital will be brought within a few hours' boat ride of the United States. This improvement in transportation will mean a steady migration of racegoers to the various cities during the winter months, say the men behind the railroads and race-tracks, and they are arranging their plans to meet the anticipated influx of the tourists. This new track is only one of a line of Southern race-courses which will be built next summer to furnish a winter racing circuit. The track at Thunderbolt Park, Savannah, will be reconstructed and made a mile in circumference. When it is finished it will be operated and owned principally by citizens of that city. The track at Tampa will be enlarged and made into a mile course and will form part of the circuit.

Another racing plant proposed is Atlanta. This bustling Southern city, with its wealth and up-to-date methods, is on a direct line with the Florida racing grounds. A well known racing man has been looking the situation over for a month with the object of building a track outside the city limits, but within close touch of it by street and trolley cars. It is said that a number of wealthy Georgians have signified their willingness to subsidize the stock for a new track.

AUSTIN, TEXAS, March 2.—The Senate committee today reported unfavorably the anti-racing bill, which was recently passed by the House. It believed that a bill that passed needed so as to permit racing to continue under stricter regulations.

COLLEGE TEAM LIMBERING UP

Students Preparing for New Season, With Fifty-Seven Varieties of Real Ball-Tossers.

Fifty-seven candidates for the baseball team at Richmond College answered Captain Lodge's call on Monday, and the campus presented an unusual sight for this early in the season, being fairly alive with ball flingers, limbering up for a strenuous round of spring work.

The prospects for a successful season are very bright, many of last year's players being out again for positions on the nine. Captain Lodge, Jenkins, Sheppard, Snead, Ezekiel and Smith are left from last year, and should make an excellent nucleus for building up a strong team. Wright, of last year's pitching staff, has not returned to college, and the pitchers who have thus far shown up well are Meredith, Cook, Richards, Halziph and Gwathmey, they being warmed up for heavier work during the next few weeks.

On account of the Georgetown meet in Washington next Saturday night, the baseball applicants have been put through light practice in batting and fielding, but will take the diamond next Monday afternoon for consistent training in preparation for the first game with Virginia in Charlottesville on March 20.

An attempt was made to secure the Seventh Street armory for indoor work early in the winter, but arrangements could not be satisfactorily made, and the plan was abandoned until the weather would permit of outdoor practice.

POPULAR TILL HE GETS THE WALLOP

That Is the Way Jeffries Sizes Up Admiration of Public for Himself.

CHICAGO, ILL., March 2.—James J. Jeffries, retired champion pugilist of the world, today left Chicago for New York. During his short stay in Chicago he left the impression in the mind of local sportsmen that he would eventually fight Jack Johnson for the world's championship.

"Yes, I will be popular until some one hits me a wallop in the jaw," he said in answer to a question, "and I take the count. Then it will be good-bye, Jeffries."

"In order to have that done it will be necessary to re-enter the ring, won't it, Jim?" he was asked. Jeffries refused to answer this question.

APPLICANTS ARE GIVEN TRY-OUT

Some Good Baseball Material Is in Sight for Randolph-Macdon.

ASHLAND, VA., March 2.—Coach Warren gave all new applicants for the baseball team a tryout this afternoon on the Randolph-Macdon athletic field. There is some good raw material evident, besides men who bring reputations from Randolph-Macdon Academy, at Bedford City, such as Rowe and Cox, who also made the football eleven last fall. With the first signs that spring is here to stay the coach will have out the twirlers and get them ready for the strenuous season before them.

While Manager Duffey has not yet completed his schedule, he expects to have at least twenty games, including his Southern trip.

"YOUNG CORBETT" HAS COME BACK

Signalizes His Reappearance in Ring by Whipping Johnny Marto.

NEW YORK, March 2.—"Young Corbett," of Denver, former featherweight champion, signalized his reappearance in the ring here to-night by defeating Johnny Marto, of New York, in a fast ten-round bout before the members of the Fairmount Athletic Club.

Although Corbett disappointed his friends by failing to knock out his opponent, he surprised them at the ring-side by the wonderful speed and agility displayed even under the handicap of increased weight.

The former featherweight champion has added to his weight until he now weighs fully 140 pounds.

WARRENTON HUNT RIDES TO HOUNDS

Women Are Taking Their Places in Field for the Spring Runs.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WARRENTON, VA., March 2.—The women of the Warrenton Hunt Club are again taking their places in the field for the spring runs. One of the most popular drags of the season was ridden this afternoon by a large and enthusiastic field. The start, which was at New Baltimore, was a large one, and the finish at P. E. Thyson's place was brisk.

The dogs ran well, and those finishing in good form were the following: Misses Mabel Flynn, Lucy Stone, Mrs. A. B. Portman, Mrs. P. R. Labours, Mrs. T. L. Evans, Master C. H. Smith, whip; George B. Stone, J. P. Stone, J. D. Hall, C. D. Strother, P. E. Thyson, Harry Page, of New York; William F. Wilbur, Dion Kerr, R. L. Adamson.

CUBS DEFEAT HYENAS AGAIN

Honors were divided between the Americans and Nationals yesterday afternoon in the Young Men's Christian Association junior contests, the basketball game going to the former team and the basketball game to the latter aggregation by the score of 15 to 9.

The Cubs again upheld their reputation in the Indoor Baseball League by defeating the Hyenas by the score of 8 to 2. The Hyenas held a comfortable lead for most of the contest, but were unable to stop the batting streak of the winners in the last inning, when three men crossed the plate before an out was made. Unmusical and Sutton plied exact ball for their respective sides, with honors slightly in favor of the former twirler. The usual crowd of rooters was on hand to make things lively for the players, and enjoyed a good wind-up of the match.

Score by innings:
Cubs 2 0 0 1 0 2-8
Hyenas 0 0 0 4 1 2-7
The Hustlers won the running high kick from the Invincibles in the graded class contests, making a better average in the event than their opponents. A. F. Dodd, of the Hustlers, was first, with 7 feet 5 inches; G. W. Stulting, of the Hustlers, second, with 7 feet 5 inches; Miller, of the Invincibles, and McConnell, of the Hustlers, tied for third place at 7 feet.

The regular game of basketball scheduled for to-morrow night between the teams of the Senior League will be postponed until after the season, and practice games of basketball and indoor baseball will be held for those present.

MARATHON RIDER FALLS.

Wylie, of Syracuse, Badly Injured and Race Stopped. ATLANTA, GA., March 2.—George Wylie, of Syracuse, N. Y., was thrown from his wheel and badly injured to-night while riding in the first Marathon motor-paced bicy race 25 miles, 355 yards—over attempted in this country. While making a sharp turn on the twelve-lap track the front tire of his bicycle ripped off and Wylie fell heavily, being picked up unconscious. He was found to have an ugly wound over the left eye, the left side of his face was badly bruised, and he had a badly lacerated knee. He will not be able to ride again for some time.

The race was between Wylie and Elmer Collins, and had gone eleven miles and two laps, with Collins leading by half a lap when the accident occurred and stopped the race.

In the unopposed Marathon, Saxon Williams, of Salt Lake, won; Benhouse, Australia, second; and Walter Bardgett, third. Time, 1:05.

And he is still the dreamy, dainty, poet pianist, to whom technique is as the air he breathes, and difficulties are unknown, but with the added strength and dignity and vision which have come with the years of study and work, and the accomplishment of great things.

"The Time, the Place and the Girl," which will be the attraction at the Academy on Friday and Saturday and Saturday matinee, is a comedy drama set to music, with its acting possibilities enhanced by half a dozen unique but thoroughly consistent characterizations. For instance, there is the philosophical young "sport," with a mine of wisdom expressed in clean and down-to-date slang, played by Arthur Dunn; the nurse, worldly wise, but with a gentle woman; the proud and petulant heiress, who is tamed by the sport; the Italian laborer, who provides much sentiment; the coal heaver, who is going to be married; and the classiest man about town, whose wild oats are harvested as gamely as they were freely sown. With these types cleverly exploited, "The Time, the Place and the Girl" keeps safely out of the conventional rut. It is distinguished by comedy rather than by clowning, though a bit or two of burlesque are interpolated to heighten the comedy.

Low Dockstader.

The coming of Low Dockstader and his great minstrel always promises a treat in the field over which Dockstader reigns. This year the minstrel king promises an absolutely new entirety, with nothing retained from last year's production. While having given the offering for this year a new scenic frame from stage to stage, Mr. Dockstader takes especial pride in the remarkable ensemble of singers with which he has surrounded himself, embracing Ralph Prosser, Will Oakland, Edgar von Roy, W. H. Thompson, James Bradley, Herbert Willson, Master Keegan, Harry Vail and about twenty others, in a program of vocal gems and choral music especially written for this year's offering, and to be heard at the Academy to-morrow, matinee and night.

Richmond Men Among Victims of Alleged Light-Fingered Gentry.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] HAMPTON, VA., March 2.—Moses Simmons, of St. Paul; George Sheridan, of Chicago, and John Shappers, of Pittsburgh, were held for the grand jury here this afternoon by Magistrate William T. Westwood. The men are charged with robbing a number of persons at Old Point on the day of the return of the Atlantic fleet from its trip around the world.

Among the witnesses who came here to testify against the alleged crooks were W. T. Yarbrough, J. L. Bridges, W. B. Davis and J. R. Bailey, all of Richmond, each of whom had his pocket-picked while witnessing the return of the fleet. Mr. Bailey identified one man as being on the car on which he was riding when he lost his pocket-book, Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Detectives Angle, Coley and Duke arrested the men.

Paderewski Was Wonderful.
In spite of the Lenten season, a large and appreciative audience greeted the great Paderewski at the Academy last night—a little thin, perhaps, in the most fashionable and most costly seats in the orchestra rows, but elsewhere compact and enthusiastic and jubilant to the very dome. And well they might be jubilant, for to have heard Paderewski as he played last night was a thing to be remembered for a lifetime. They have said of him from time to time that marriage, teaching, composition, the passing of the years, the accumulation of great wealth and the like had wooed him from the piano, had marred his technique and dulled his sensibilities, and that he was no longer the greatest virtuoso of his generation, but they do not know, the people who have said those things, or at least they did not hear him play last night. They also say, those people who are just a bit too well informed to be comfortable, that when he plays "in the provinces" he drops back into old-time programs. True, the Schumann "Carnival," for which there never was any real reason or excuse, might well have been omitted, and the Schumann "Nocturne," which followed the medley as an encore, was not played "con amore," but with those exceptions the program was a thing of beauty and a joy forever.

"The Moonlight Sonata" was welcomed as an old friend, and never was it better played. Most people fancy that to play Chopin well practically unfits a pianist for more serious work; but these should have heard the wonderful power and dignity with which the Bach fantasia and fugue were played, and the gorgeous effects of the Liszt Hungarian Rhapsody. And yet, after all, it is Chopin who seems to bring forth the best that is in this wonderful musician, and it was Chopin whose music appealed most to the cultivated audience who heard Paderewski last night.

The "Nocturne" in B major was perfection itself, and the two etudes and the waltz were all that the most exacting could ask, while the two Chopin numbers given as an encore to the Liszt "Rhapsody" were received with every evidence of delight; but the "Polonaise" was a revelation and an inspiration. The Paderewski "Nocturne" is full of sentiment and beauty, and though by no means a Slavish copy, shows at least the spell of Chopin in the quaint sadness of its theme.

But why talk of the program? It was all delightful and inspiring, for it was the music of the masters played as only Paderewski could.

And he is still the dreamy, dainty, poet pianist, to whom technique is as the air he breathes, and difficulties are unknown, but with the added strength and dignity and vision which have come with the years of study and work, and the accomplishment of great things.
